PSYCHOLOGY 115 Remembering and Forgetting Notes MODULE-II Key Psychological Processes Encoding refers to the translation of incoming stimulus into a unique neural code that a personâ€™ s brain can process. Storage is the retention of the material encoded over a period of time. Retrievel is the recovery of the stored or retained information at a later occasion.

REMEMBERING AND FORGETTING
Recall in memory refers to the mental process of retrieval of information from the past. Along with encoding and storage, it is one of the three core processes of memory.There are three main types of recall: free recall, cued recall and serial recall. Psychologists test these forms of recall as a way to study the memory processes of humans and animals. Two main theories of the process of ...

Childhood abuse can be particularly difficult to deal with on your own. Some things you can do are: Talk to someone you trust. Many survivors find that talking to a specialist agency or independent person, such as a GP, is a first step to understanding what has happened, and working out how to move forward.
